

I'm not robot!

Fronting

We usually begin sentences with their grammatical subject. But sometimes we move things to the front for emphasis.

- Crazy, that driver. (More emphatic than "That driver is crazy.")

Moving something to the beginning of a sentence in this way is called fronting. Fronting is very common in informal speech. The words that are usually fronted are objects and complements.

- A very nice time we had yesterday. (= Yesterday we had a very nice time.)
- Nice people they are! (= They are nice people.)
- Lovely she is! (=She is lovely)

Question-word clauses are also often fronted.

- How she got the goods through customs I don't understand. (= I don't understand how she got the goods through customs.)
- What I should do now I don't know. (= I don't know what I should do now.)

Adverbs and adverb particles

Adverbs and adverb particles are often fronted when giving instructions to small children.

- Down you come!
- Off we go!
- Out you come!
- Back you go to your study.

Another reason for fronting adverbs is for emphasis.

- Now you tell me! (= Why didn't you tell me before?)

Examples and Observations:

•"Before the march of the flames were flung picket lines of soldiers."

(Jack London, "Story of an Eyewitness: The San Francisco Earthquake." Collier's Weekly, May 5, 1906)

•"Powerful you have become Dooku, the dark side I sense in you."

(Yoda, Star Wars: Episode II--Attack of the Clones, 2002)

Adjectives

Can you identify the adjectives in the paragraph below?
Circle all the adjectives you can find!

Example: The big blue spaceship zoomed into the sky. The flames were hot and high and everyone was happy.

For dinner my mom is cooking pizza! I am watching her while she makes it: her small hands pick up the big bag of flour and she tips it into the red bowl. She mixes in some warm water, a pinch of white salt and a packet of yeast. I watch as she mixes the sticky dough together and then kneads it on the clean table top. Next, she shapes the dough into a big circle and spreads on the fresh, red tomato sauce. I ask if I can help and she lets me sprinkle on the dried herbs from the tiny jars - this job is fun! Finally we add some gooey mozzarella and my mom slides the pizza into the hot oven. I can't wait to eat it!
